Fixed Ends Fig. 294.--Moving uniform load, two equal spans. Moving Uniform Loads If a uniform load is considered, the influence lines indicate the spans which should be loaded in order to obtain the maximum values of the given functions. Fig. 294 represents the variation in moment and shear for a uniform load on one span of a beam of two equal spans, both fixed and supported ends. Figs. 295, 296, and 297 give values for various loadings with three equal spans. To illustrate the effect of loads on various spans upon the bending moments, influence lines have been drawn for six equal Fixed Ends Fig. 295.--Moving uniform load, three equal spans. spans (Fig. 298), for moments at the centers of span 1-2 and 3-4, and at supports 2 and 4. A maximum moment at the center of a span requires each alternate span to be loaded, and a maximum moment at the support requires the two adjacent spans to be loaded and then each alternate span. The effect of loads on remote spans is seen to be small. Influence lines are not drawn for shears since, in a large number of spans, the shears do not differ greatly from those in simple beams. Maximum Moments From Uniform Loads If we consider now the maximum moments which may be obtained in continuous beams for uniform fixed and moving loads, it is quite evident from the table on page...
