Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Books in Camp, Trench and Hospital Most of the following articles were written during my long stay in London, and so bear the stamp of their English origin. This explains why more was not said in the section devoted to the Y. M. C. A. about the work of the young men sent out from America. A few anecdotes and facts that have recently come to my attention are added here. A German soldier and his son had come all the way from Verdun to the Russian front, where they were wounded and captured. They lay in adjoining beds in a military hospital, and the Y. M. C. A. furnished them with a copy of Oliver Twist and a Russian grammar which they were planning to study together. In the same ward was a young Berlin professor who had done research work in the British Museum. He brooded a great deal over his fate, but a gift of the Christmas Carol and a Russian grammar changed somewhat the tenor of his thought. Count L, a prisoner in a Russian camp, asked for a good American story, and the secretary brought him Black Rock. The Count pronounced it to be one of the best novels he had ever read, and he asked the secretary to send him ten others of the same kind from America after the war. The Y. M. C. A. man having occasion to go to Petrograd a few days later, purchased these books by Ralph Connor, Gene Stratton Porter, and Jack London, and gave them to the Count. The secretary says that no other volumes ever received such joyful reading. Since then...
